The Editor's Bit

Bit of a strange few weeks since the last Stun came out; I couldn't get round the bars as much as I usually do and still ended up with more photos than an average month.

Where did they all come from, you may ask. I took quite a few at Nick Mathews' Wake, they're on pages 8 & 9. Elly and I were at the Poolhole's opening party (page 10), but didn't take many photos ourselves, so Trudy let us use some of hers.

They threw a party in Finnegan's Rainbow to celebrate the bar's 9th birthday and I was there; the photos are on pages 30 & 31.

And we can't forget Halloween! We've got 6½ pages of photos from parties in the Old Quarter, Molly Malone's and the Flying Dutchman. They're on pages 3 & 20-25. Maybe it's a good job I didn't make it to the parties in Coco's Outback and Maloe Melo; I wouldn't have been able to squeeze everything in.

Throw in Music, Round the Bars, Behind Bars, Jokes, Football, Crossword, etc., and I think we've got a Stun to be proud of.

Well, the sun is up, we've eaten the cover and as soon as I finish this column, I can send the November Stun to the printers. What else? Oh yeah, that something else I wanted to write about but couldn't remember last month; Elly and I got married! Elly tells you all about it in Tales from the Gutter. Enjoy your Stun.

Andy and I couldn't tell you our big news last month, because we wanted to tell our families first (We did put a hint on the editor's page, but we didn't get a single reaction. Can you spot it now?).

We got married last month, here in Amsterdam, on 10-10-11 (easy to remember!) and we did use one of the photos taken in city hall. We got married on a Monday morning, 09.15 it was, we were the second couple to wed that day.

The other reason we didn't invite anyone: It would have cost a fortune, and we just couldn't afford it.

We would have loved to have a massive party, invite all the Stun readers and have a

On this photo we have just signed the papers that made it official.

A couple of weeks ago we received an invitation for the official opening of The Poolhole, Case's new place in the city. I don't go out much anymore, but I wasn't going to miss this. I like playing pool, and I haven't had a good game on a good table for too long. And I'm not the only one.

Natalie is a keen player, who would like to play in a Lady's team and enter competitions. I'm not sure if Conner plays pool, but he would fit in with any Lady's team. Unfortunately he won't be in Amsterdam for a while because of work. But he'll be back.

Olle used to play pool a lot as well, so he visited the Poolhole on one of his days off, looking for a game. But he found no one to play with because everybody plays the pool competition in the Waterhole on the first Sunday of the month. Maybe we can have a few games together. I forgot to mention it to him earlier in the week, when he was here to pick the crossword winner out of the hat.

And the winner is: Josie Gladden. This time she did actually make the crossword, so she won fair and square. She won a CD, a T-shirt & key ring from 'Mama's Bad Boy's'. When we next see her, I'll mention the Poolhole as well, she's another keen player. Maybe she's interested in playing in a team. And if anyone else is interested, send us an email.

Now that we're back in the Poolhole, I want to mention the entertainment on the official opening party, especially Giovanni, the Magicmonster!

He's amazing, really! I was flabbergasted, and that doesn't happen to me very often.

Giovanni is available for parties, functions, etc. Check out the web site: www.magicmonster.nl or e-mail: magicmonster1@gmail.com.

Saturday night in the Stone's Café is always fun when Justine and Bianca are behind the bar.

Izia and Monica did a great job when they took on Whitesnake's "Here I Go Again" at The End Karaoke!

Was that Rick Astley himself singing "Never Gonna Give You Up"? Was it fk, it was Gary from London, who was over for the weekend.

NICK'S WAKE

It was a full house in the Hole in the Wall when family, friends, bar owners, customers, colleagues and those who's life had been touched by Nick Mathews, came together to celebrate his life.

BREAK!

The Poolhole (Voetboogstraat 3) is OPEN! We were at the opening party and sat at a table in a strategic location, where people would come to Elly, instead of Elly having to squeeze through the crowd, like I usually do. And it was crowded! What do you expect, with 4 free beers and free pool for everybody with (or without) a flyer.

We had a great time chatting to everybody passing our table and I only took a couple of photos, so thanks to Trudy for letting us use some of her photos of the Poolhole's Opening Party.

Waterhole barmen Jurjen and Mo were next to our table, so I got one of them. No surprise seeing them at the party; their boss Case owns both bars.

When she wasn't behind the bar serving all those free drinks, Diana was bringing tasty treats to the tables, so I had to get the camera out.

JOE ROCKS

When the last Stun hit the bars, Joe Rocker had a gig in Players, so I skipped a few beers during my delivery run and got to the bar well before Jim & the band played their last set.

Rick's Café was closed that night; Jim's colleagues Tony, Kim and Daphne were at the gig.

Kim from Rick's and Louise from Susie's work in rival bars on O.Z. Voorburgwal, but are friends on Warmoesstraat.

When I arrived, band members Gus and Stan were at the bar with Arend Bouwmeester, who saved the day by filling in on sax.

Seen On Stage

Every Tuesday is Magic Gumball and Open Mic night in CC Muziekcafé, where 5 acts get a 40 minute set and walk-ins are welcome to a bit of stage time in between sets. We can't put each week's line-up in our Gig List, because it's all about who's available and they like to keep a slot open for a last minute visiting act.

On my last visit, CC regular Danalyze sang a few of her own songs...

We usually see Giovanni and James leading the Re-Plugged Open Mic Night, every Monday in Café Candela, so it made a nice change to see them on stage at the Tuesday Jam in the Waterhole.

And Davide Bianchi from Italy had the whole bar mesmerized with his 'hang'.

Lots of instruments, but not much vocals at the VSPA Student Jam in Maloe Melo. Maybe it was because I only got there in time for their last number.

Tineke doesn't usually look like this; Sue and Gerry paid a visit while they were celebrating Halloween in the Flying Dutchman.

Finally got introduced to René's fiancée Mariah when I dropped into CC Muziekcafé for the Tuesday night Magic Gumball.

A week later, Tineke had scrubbed up well for this family portrait with husband Richard and daughter Angelique.

Most of the good looking people had left by the time I got to Susie's Saloon, so I took a photo of John and Brad.

It's not often you see Gavin, Janet and Frankie in the Flying Dutchman's smoking room at 2:45; still awake anyway.

Another late night shot, this time it's Bas and Michel, the Knuffelkoning, in Maloe Melo.

Julius was taking a break during his Tuesday Jam session in the Waterhole.

Blues legend Magic Sem had a chat with drummer Ron and bass man Rahim before playing a set.

Guitar Star Ilja had a drink with Rahim when he came off stage.

Molly's Halloween

There was a good turn-out for the Halloween Party in Molly Malone's, where Peter Carroll was entertaining the masses.

The prizes for best costumes were presented while I was outside smoking, but I have it on good authority that Dead Elvis, Hulk Hogan and this Pirate were the big winners.

OQ Pt. 2

Jim Maguire had joined Some Pirates on stage when I got back to the Old Quarter.

In the Costume competition, 1st prize of a bottle of bubbly went to Kim with the wings.

Pirate Beth took 2nd prize; a night in Hotel Old Quarter.

Flying D Halloween

I only paid a Flying visit to the Dutchman, so thank you to David for sending in these photos of the Halloween Party.

MORE ROUNDS

It's always packed in Coco's Outback at Halloween, so Adriaan suggested I take pictures of the bar crew in their costumes before the party started. Great idea, but I couldn't make it.

Gavin Mee is helping René by booking the acts for the Magic Gumball, every Tuesday in CC Muziekcafé. If you're interested in playing a 40 minute set, contact Gavin via Facebook.

JOKES

With Jokers: Lamar, Lin, John & Rush

During an international gynaecology conference, an English doctor and a French doctor were discussing unusual cases they had treated recently. "Only last week" the Frenchman said "a woman came to see me with a clitoris like a melon!"

"Don't be absurd" the Brit exclaimed. "It couldn't have been that big. My God, man, she wouldn't have been able to walk if it were."

"Ahh, you English, always thinking about size" replied the Frenchman. "I was talking about the flavour!"

Someone's just thrown a bottle of Omega 3 tablets at me. Don't worry I only received super fish oil injuries.

An American tourist asks an Irish dive master: "Why do Scuba divers always fall backwards off their boats?"

To which the Irishman replies: "If they fell forwards, they'd still be in the boat."

I got knocked back from a trendy club last night because I wasn't wearing a tie. I went back to my car and found some jump leads so I fashioned them into a tie and went back to try again. "Can I come in now?" I said to the doorman.

"OK" he said... "but don't start anything!!!"

Ruth's baby boy is born with only one eyelid. "Oy veh! What am I going to do?" she says to her doctor.

"Don't worry," he replies, "after the bris, we will take the little bit of skin from down there and make him a nice new eyelid."

"But if you do that," says Ruth, "won't it will make him cockeyed?"

"On the contrary," says the doctor, "it will give him good foresight."

"Doctor Doctor, every time I close my eyes I see Donald Duck, Mickey Mouse and Goofy"

"And how long have you been having these Disney Spells?"

A brunette is trying to get across a river and suddenly she spots a blonde on the other side. She yells over to the blonde "Hey, excuse me! How do I get over to the other side?" And after a quick survey of the river, the blonde calls back "You ARE on the other side!"

Little Billy asks his dad for a telly in his room. Dad reluctantly agrees. Next day Billy comes downstairs and asks, 'Dad, what's love juice?'

Dad looks horrified and tells Billy all about sex. Billy just sat there with his mouth open in amazement.

Dad says, 'So what were you watching?' Billy says, 'Wimbledon.'

A man asked an American Indian what was his wife's name.

He replied, "She called Five Horses".

The man said, "That's an unusual name for your wife. What does it mean?"

The Old Indian answered, "It old Indian name. It mean... NAG, NAG, NAG, NAG, NAG!"

After a visit to a house of ill repute a man notices green lumps on his willy, so he goes to the doctors.

"That's serious," says the doctor. "You've heard that some wrestlers get cauliflower ears?"

"Yes" says the man seriously.

"Well" says the doctor "You've got brothel sprouts."

Paddy goes to the vet with his goldfish. "I think it's got epilepsy," he tells the vet.

Vet takes a look and says "It seems calm enough to me".

Paddy says, "I haven't taken it out of the bowl yet".

BEING FRANK ON FOOTBALL

Let us begin here in the Netherlands for a change. And what a change it is! Ajax now find themselves in 5th place in the table, having succumbed to perhaps their worst defeat in recent memory, going down by an incredible six goals to four, away to Utrecht! To be honest, I could not remember the last time they conceded so many goals, but surprisingly, it was not that long ago. Two years and seven months to be precise, when they were beaten by P.S.V. by six goals to two in Eindhoven on the 19th April 2009. That perhaps was a bit more believable - given the team they were facing, but no one expected this latest catastrophe at the hands of a team that even after this win are lying in 11 place in the Eredivisie! (First Division.)

No one played particularly well for the Amsterdammers, although Bulykin scored twice. Chief culprit was the keeper, Kenneth Vermeer, who was responsible for three of the goals with some very erratic clearances and poor positioning. Put it this way, he has a very long way to go if he has designs on emulating Edwin van de Sar!

It is not fair however to blame him alone, because this was a disaster on a number of fronts. De Jong and Alderweireld went off within the first twenty minutes through injury and then Andre Ooijer should have been removed permanently for a reckless challenge on Rodney Sneijder that incensed the home supporters when the referee only gave him a yellow. In the end though, the fanatical Utrecht fans got what they had come for and this is the third season in succession they have beaten Ajax in Galgenwaard. Ajax are now an astonishing eleven points behind leaders A.Z. and five behind Twente and P.S.V., but thankfully for them there is still a long way to go and this league is throwing up lots of unexpected results week in week out, so they can live in hope, I suppose.

Talking of shock results and high scoring encounters brings me conveniently around to the Premiership in England and what a feast of goals we have had of late! First Manchester City wiped the floor with the Red Devils on their home turf by a staggering six goals to one and then the other week we witnessed Arsenal rekindling some form of bygone years with a five - three win at Chelsea! And it is not just Ajax who are suffering from post European blues, because Stoke lost last week, to lowly Bolton 5-0, after performing admirably earlier in the week in Europe.

And finally, it is nice to see that the newcomers to the Elite league are all holding their own. QPR, Norwich and little fancied Swansea are defying the odds, which surely makes a mockery of any suggestion that there should no longer be promotion and relegation issues to contend with. Mark my words, if the foreign owners got their way, and this was to happen, it would spell the end of football, as we know it and would be destined to failure in the long term. Let us not kid ourselves, the reason football is so exciting is BECAUSE there is competition and not in spite of it.
